The legend continues as mutant comic book characters come alive again on screen for an epic film that will place you on the front row of destruction in X-men: Apocalypse. These characters will race against the four horsemen and against time to save the world from false demigods who seek to transmute their power for destructive means to wreak havoc worldwide. Join them and feel the fury, the fear, the pain, and the power unleashed. GI Film Festival will host an advance screening of Xmen: Apocalypse on May 26th at 7:00 p.m. at Angelika Film Center. Governor Jim Gilmore will open up the evening with an introduction of the nights events followed by X-men's director Bryan Singer's taped film intro. There will be popcorn, drinks, an open bar and a chance to win a free gift bag followed by the film screening. Sponsors will include wamal, 21st century fox, and Gary Sinise Foundation. After the screening join us for an after party exclusive at cyclone Anaya for more fun and entertainment.

Man down but not down and out is the best way to describe Jeremiah, Daryl, and Tourist. These films will take you through the pain of war but will show you the light at the end of the tunnel. These characters brave the storm, live to tell about tribulations of war and go on to do even greater things.
